

Friday the 4'th January 2008

After we slept again very long like to do it during holidays we went down for breakfast. Now I had the chance to ate more then one toasts with coconut jam. Great! Straight after our breakfast we went to the beach. Another warm day in Sanya and that in the winter. On the beach there have been not so many people so we found very fast a good place. After we made some pictures we went into the ocean for swimming. What a great feeling to go swimming in January. Afterwards we took a shower in the sun. I was glad that I took my sun milk with me. Without sun protection the sun will burn your skin.

It was afternoon when we went back to our hostel to get ready for the „Hot springs“. We arrived at our hostel and the girl at the reception told us that there are to more people who also want to go there. We were glad to hear about that. They were sitting outside and so we talked how we manged that. After a few minutes we meet each ready to go downstairs waiting for the taxi. We talked to each other. It was a young Swedish couple and they have been very friendly. For the taxi we had to wait nearly one hour. But that was not bad so we could speak to each other which was really interessting. They travelled a lot as backpacker so right now. So we understood each other very good because we both try to travel as cheap as possible. At 14:00 o'clock our taxi came and picked us up. It was a longer distance to drive. Because we were 4 people the taxi was for free.

We arrived at the hot springs and went in. It was great there. Each couple went his own way so we didn't have to take care each other. At the „Hot Springs“ there have been a lot of different pools where you could go in. The first pool we went in was really hot. It was really hard to go in. When we got out nearly our hole body was red. So we discovered the area as good as possible. Another highlight was the fish therapie pool There have been little fish inside. I like fish put I don't like ticaling (kitzeln). That was my problem. Finally I went in and it was great when the fish napping at your body. I tried to catch one but that was not possible. Also very nice was the rose pool. There have been a lot of roses in the water. It was a great experience. At 17:00 o'clock a free bus was going back. But that was to early for us. We decided to go home by taxi. The other free bus at 21:00 o'clock was a little bit too late for us. After we tried another pool we went a way which was very slippery. I didn't think about it and in my arms I carried a lot of stuff. Then it happened that I slepped. Autsch! I injured me at my back (Ferse) of my right leg. When I looked at it I saw blood so that we went to the next first aid. There they helped my with several things and they desinfected my wound. That hurt a lot. After a rest we went on with discovering the Hot Springs. I didn't go to the water anymore. Then we meet each other again and went home by taxi. It was a great area they have there. The money we spend on it was OK. Another offer they had was a great tea with ginger and some other things inside.

Because of the realy hot springs we felt hungry. So we went to the barbecue were Anna and I went at the first evening. The Swedish couple liked the food there like we did. And it was again delicious. Afterwards we went home by bus. We arrived at our bus station and went to the place were we bought our ice cream. First we didn't want to eat one. But at least we ordered one. This was another advice we gave them. It was a pleasure for us to make them happy. Then it was time to go back to our hostel. We changed our names to find each other on facebook. And then it was time for our last night in Sanya!
